

LIVE EXHIBITIONS

i - Uffizi Exhibition 'A misura di bimbo. Crescere nell'antica Roma' (measuring for children. Growing up in ancient Rome). Over 30 artworks, including sculptures of divinities represented in toys from thousands of years ago, will outline the theme of the daily life of children in the Roman empire. November 23 to April 24, 2022.

ii - London Science Museum. From Athens to Andromeda: When Ancient Greece Looked to the Stars. Science Museum. 20th June. How did ancient Greek thinkers influence modern astronomy? And how did ancient Greek astronomy shape ideas around humanity's place in the universe?

iii - London Science Museum. Ancient Greeks: Science and Wisdom. Free exhibition at the Science Museum, London. 7 November 2021 - 05 June 2022 More information here & a Review: It's all Greek to the Science Museum until 5th June 2022.

Do be aware that the animation pauses for a while at the end before repeating, and the countdown clock is quite small, so if you walk in during the interval, it can be very easy to miss the display. And that would be a pity as it's rather good.

iv - Cambridge Museum of Classical Archaeology. Mycenae: From Myth to History. An exhibition of photographs by Robert McCabe. 28 September - 10 December 2021

v - Acropolis Museum Introduces New Winter Programs for Children and Adults Strange creatures at the Acropolis Museum. What is truly the Hippalektryon?

vi - Κάλλος - The Ultimate Beauty. New exhibition at the Museum of Cycladic Art. September 29, 2021 until January 16, 2022 and is being supported by L'Oreal and features 300 ancient Greek works drawn from 52 museums, collections and institutes in Greece, Italy and the Vatican